Safford Chosen for Convention

Resolutions appealing to the Secretary of the Treasury for "legitimate and deserving" aid in the financial crisis facing cattlemen, were adopted at the closing session of the Cochise-Graham Cattle Growers' Association Saturday, at Douglas. Other resolutions opposed increases in grazing fees on national forests and urged amendments to the State livestock sanitary law which was declared not to provide entirely adequate protection for the livestock industry.

A committee was appointed to investigate provisions of the proposed State game law which, it was said, would require license to kill fur-bearing animals and which might work a hardship on cattlemen.

An address was delivered by E. B. Stanley, instructor of animal husbandry in the agricultural department of the University of Arizona. His subject was "The Improvement of Cattle by the Purchase of Pure Bred Sires."

Safford was chosen as the place to hold the next convention, which will be held in March.

"I have always voted dry and will not interfere with the eighteenth amendment," the democratic candidate replied.

STATE FAIR WEEK

Will Furnish Chance for Many Reunions in Addition to Exhibits

Besides being "Fair Week," the week from the 8th to the 13th of November will be "Reunion Week" in Phoenix.

Arizona people are more and more making the State Fair an opportunity for a grand get-together—killing two birds with one stone—as it were. For while folks take in the delights of the exhibits and amusement programs, they also make it a point to meet with relatives and old friends whom they haven't seen in months.

Sister Maizie, who has been painting pictures in the White Mountains, will meet in Phoenix, brother Ben, who is proving up his claim in Casa Grande. Sonny, who left the home ranch to set himself up in business in the city, will open his arms to pa and ma, who've come to witness the wonders of the Fair. The rider of the range will turn his pinto's nose toward Phoenix, where he hopes to greet the rest of his clan from all corners of the State, and they'll make a rousing party of it.

The announcement that railroads will again make reduced rates for those wishing to attend the Fair will be a welcome one to those planning to stage a reunion. More definite announcement will be made later of reduction rates.

Agricultural Survey, Thatcher School

The boys who are taking vocational agriculture in the Thatcher Public School, are making a systematic survey of the district. Mr. Wixom, the instructor, insists that the intent of the law is that the farmers, as well as the students in school, shall receive direct benefit from State and Federal money that his district receives for the Smith-Hughes work.

The purpose of this survey is to more fully acquaint the instructor and the members of his classes with the resources and problems of the people of his community. One of the results of this survey will be the furtherance of a plan that Mr. Wixom has for bringing buyers and sellers into closer touch with each other. It will also enable him to place valuable information in the hands of those who desire it.

The new plumbing will soon be finished in the Home Economics laboratories of the Smith-Hughes Department. Mrs. Isabelle Pace, the instructor, says the girls are anxious to move into their new quarters.

A HONEY PRODUCER

Cotton Gives High Quality,
Light Color and Fine
Flavor

PHOENIX, Sept. 10.—Don C. Mote, State Entomologist, disclosed an interesting fact today while discussing his plans for the 1920 State Fair apiary exhibit. It is the relation that the growth of the cotton industry in Arizona will have to the business of bee raising and honey producing.

"It has been discovered," said Mr. Mote, "that cotton is a most excellent honey producer, and the extensive fields of that plant in the valleys of this State will have a marked effect upon the bee industry. We find that cotton honey is very high quality, being light in color and having almost as distinctive and fine a flavor as the mesquite honey."

Mr. Mote, as superintendent of this department, announces that samples of this cotton honey, along with that produced from alfalfa and desert flowers, such as the mesquite, palo verde and palo christi will be shown. There will also be displays of the honey-producing flowers and all phases of the process of honey making will be demonstrated.

Figures were quoted by the State entomologist showing the growth of Apiculture in Arizona, which has doubled in the past five years. Maricopa county leads the list with the largest number of stands. Yuma, Cochise and Graham counties are next in the order of their listing. Mr. Mote expects to have large and complete exhibits from each of the bee centers of the State, including the Verde, San Pedro, Upper Gila, Santa Cruz and Rillito valleys.

A most competent judge has been chosen for this department in the person of Dr. Charles T. Vorhies, of the University of Arizona, who has made an exhaustive study of bees especially with reference to honey producing desert flowers.

THE REPUBLICANS WOULD LIKE TO QUIT

Investigation of Governor
Cox's Charges of Republican Campaign Fund

DEMOCRATS WANT TO CONTINUE

Document Shows Plan for Intensive Campaign in Fifty-four Cities

The Senate Committee investigating campaign expenditures, which is holding its meetings in Chicago, last night was divided on the question of pursuing the investigation of Governor Cox's charges that millions are being sought by the republican national committee to "corrupt" the electorate.

Tomorrow the committee will complete its inquiry in Chicago, but after two conferences yesterday, the five senators could reach no decision as to the next step to be taken.

The republican attitude, as expressed by Senator Edge, is that every lead offered by Governor Cox and his supporters has been pursued without proving any of what the New Jersey senator characterized as "sinister" counts in the democratic presidential nominee's charges. Senators Edge, Kenyon and Spencer, republicans, propose that the committee drop the Cox charges and move to Pittsburg to investigate reports that the liquor interests are taking an active part in the campaign.

The democratic view, however, as expressed by Senators Reed and Pomerene, is that the Cox charges are being proven, and they desire to go to New York and subpoena Colonel William Boyce Thompson, chairman of the republican national ways and means committee, Reeve Schley, Eastern treasurer, and other republican leaders and pursue the investigation further.

The Chicago end of the present inquiry virtually will be completed tomorrow. Edmond H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, Governor Cox's personal representative, will resume the stand to complete his own interrupted testimony.

Testimony bearing on Governor Cox's charge that a quota list of 51 cities had been sent out by the republican national committee, was elicited at yesterday's session of the senate committee investigating campaign funds.

While Harry M. Blair, assistant to Fred W. Upham, republican national treasurer, was on the stand, a document was introduced which the witness identified as a substitute for "form 101," the campaign plan which Blair drew up, but which was rejected by the national executive committee. This substitute document stated that an intensive campaign was to be undertaken in 54 cities, and it also indicated that the national treasurer was to appoint city chairmen of the ways and means committee.
